

FOUR KILLERS DIE AT A MOBS' HANDS

QUARTETTE OF MURDERERS HANGED AT EUREKA, CAL.

Crowd Took Them From the Jail and Meted Out Swift Justice—Negro Is Hanged at Springfield, Kentucky—Mob Rule Threatened at Marion, Ind.—Criminal News.

Eureka, Cal., Aug. 26.—Four murderers, named Johnson, Souler, Nul and Moreno, were taken from the jail here this morning and lynched.

Springfield, Ky., Aug. 26.—Harrison Lewis, a colored murderer was taken from the jail and lynched by a mob today.

Malden, Mass., Aug. 26.—Daniel J. McLeod, a Melrose carpenter, attempted to kill his wife, Mary McLeod, on Washington street, Oak Grove, yesterday afternoon, and afterward shot himself through the head, dying instantly. Although the woman was badly injured it is thought that she will recover. She had left McLeod and refused to return to him.

Marion, Ind., Aug. 26.—Excitement was high in Landeville yesterday morning when it was discovered that Joseph Luger, who assaulted Mrs. Hannah Zuck, aged 84, Saturday had taken refuge in his father's house. For over an hour an angry mob surrounded the dwelling demanding possession of the fellow. County Commissioner Wilson Luger, the father, pleaded piteously for his son, stating that he had been pronounced insane and was about to be removed to an asylum. His pleadings seemed to have little effect, and the situation was becoming desperate, when a posse of officers arrived from Marion. Then the angry citizens went away. Any attempt upon the part of officers to remove the culprit probably would have proved fatal to young Luger. By noon the excitement had begun to abate and most of the party dispersed. It was not, however, until late in the afternoon that Luger was taken away. Fear of the mob being revived prevented the officers from bringing him to Marion, and he is now concealed in some secret place.

Further advice states that young Luger's crime was most shocking. Mrs. Zuck was walking along a lonely road through a forest, returning home from a neighbor's, when she was overtaken by Luger, driving in a buggy. He offered her a ride. Being well acquainted with him she accepted. Luger then turned and drove directly into the woods, despite the old lady's cries of alarm. After assaulting her Luger disappeared in the woods. The old lady managed to reach home and tell her story.

Escapes with a Posse at His Heels. Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 26.—A bloody encounter occurred at the water works yesterday in which James Lyle literally carved Peter Sullivan to pieces. Lyle escaped, but is closely pursued by the police and twenty-five infuriated citizens. If caught Lyle will be lynched.

Talk of Lynching a Negro. Yankton, S. D., Aug. 26.—Robert Dowdy, a negro, lately from Alabama, was put in jail yesterday for assaulting a white woman. There is some talk of lynching.

Knights Templar in a Fire.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 26.—Several hundred excursionists aboard the steamer Cultivateur had a narrow escape from a serious accident by fire yesterday afternoon on Lake Francis, two miles from shore. An oil stove in the lunch-room adjoining the forward deck was overturned, and in an instant the room was enveloped in flames. The prompt action of a few passengers and deck hands saved the boat from serious damage and probably destruction, and a combination of prompt bravery and lucky circumstances averted a panic which would have surely resulted seriously. Among the passengers were nearly 200 Knights Templar and their guests from Chicago and other parts of Bernard and Chicago Commanderies.

Two Men Fatally Injured.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 26.—James Rouin and Edward Schuessler went to Cedar Lake yesterday on a Monon excursion. When near Radner the men were playing pseudon on the platform, when they were thrown from the train and fatally injured. The bones of their bodies were broken and protruded through the flesh. They were brought to this city and both will die. Schuessler is unmarried, while Rouin has a family.

HOLMES TELLS ANOTHER STORY

Makes Public His Version of the Killing of Minnie Williams.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 26.—H. H. Holmes publishes a signed statement, written by himself, in the Moyerism prison, and certified to by his lawyer, which goes into all details of his acquaintance with Minnie R. Williams. Holmes writes that he first met Minnie Williams at an intelligence office kept by one Campbell, on Dearborn street, Chicago, in January, 1893, and employed her as a stenographer. She was installed in his office in the building which has become known as "Holmes Castle," and from March to May of that year occupied rooms in the building, adjoining the office. Occasionally meals were served in the building, and if any bones have been found in the stove there, Holmes writes, it will be found by microscopic examination that they are the remains of such meals. He continues:

"Certain it is that no human being was ever cremated there during my occupancy of the room, my own experience, years ago, being quite sufficient to show me the danger of such proceedings on account of the awful odor, if I had no other motive to deter me from such a course."

Holmes says that in April, Minnie Williams, knowing him to be in need of money, gave him a draft for $2,500, the proceeds of the sale of real estate she had held in Texas, and asked him to use it until she should need it. In order that she should be protected, he transferred to her by warranty deed a house and lot at Wilmette, Ill., valued at $7,500. The money was returned to her in May, 1893.

She desired to convert her other southern property into cash or improved northern property, and he advised her to execute a worthless deed (by having some one other than herself sign the name) to a fictitious person, and offer the property for sale at a very low cash figure, and years later to demand an additional sum in exchange for a good deed. This was done, says Holmes, which deeds are still in existence.

About this time, Holmes narrates, Miss Williams was taken ill, suffered from acute mania, and was removed to the Presbyterian Hospital, being enrolled as Mrs. Williams, as her ailment was such that it was prudent for her to pass as a married woman. Her condition was brought about, so Holmes says she told him, by a prominent Boston business man, head of a firm dealing in surgical instruments, whose wife she visited at their home in Somerville, Mass. When she grew better and returned to his house, her sister, Nannie Williams, came from Texas to visit her. Returning one evening early in July from a day in the city, he was greeted by a cry from Minnie Williams in the parlor:

"Is that you? My God, I thought you would never come. Nannie is dead!"

She was seated upon the floor, holding her sister's head in her arms, rocking back and forth, moaning, much as a mother would over a child. Nannie Williams had been dead for hours. According to a story written by Holmes, Minnie Williams had been away the preceding night, and he (Holmes) had also been unexpectedly detained by business all night. When Minnie Williams returned that morning she noticed that his bed had not been occupied during the night. This is what Holmes writes:

"And with only this one thought in her disordered mind, she had rushed into the adjoining room, where her sister then sat, and in a voice, which only the very few who have been intimately acquainted with Miss Williams can appreciate or understand the tragedy of, had said: 'You devil, you have stolen my husband from me!'"

At the same time she had struck her sister with a small foot-stool, causing her to fall to the floor, where, with hardly a struggle, she had ceased to breathe. At first Minnie thought her sister had only fainted and tried to revive her. Then she found her efforts useless and remained in the position in which he found her. Then came the question of what to do. Holmes' story of what was done follows:

"We clothed Nannie in a light dress she had liked to wear, and taking a large trunk she had brought with her from Texas, I placed her therein. I went to a livery stable and procured a covered conveyance, and upon my return I engaged a man to accompany me to the house and help me place the trunk in the carriage."

"I then drove to the lake side and waited until night had fallen, thus appearing to parties noticing me, if any, that I was awaiting the return of some boating party. Then I procured a boat at some distance and took it near my waiting-place, and later with considerable trouble I placed the trunk in the craft, and proceeded about one mile from the shore. There in the darkness passed beyond the sight of this world into the ever-grasping depths of Lake Michigan all that was mortal of this beautiful Christian girl."

Pitiful Double Suicide at Boston.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26.—Louis Hammond and his bride Kathryn of Des Moines, Iowa, came from New York Monday with the avowed intention of dying together by their own hands. Yesterday afternoon their bodies were found in a room at the American house, death having resulted from morphine poisoning. Hammond was out of work and despondent, and the couple chose this as the easiest way out of their troubles.

ROCHESTER STRIKE IS BRANCHING OUT

TWELVE HUNDRED MORE HANDS QUIT TODAY.

The Walk Out Closed Up One Hundred More Shops and Unless the Bosses Concede Their Demands Many More Employes Will Quit Within a Few Days.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Twelve hundred garment workers struck this morning and as result one hundred shops are closed. This step was expected as one of the greatest labor struggles ever waged between employer and employed in this city began Saturday night when 1,000 members of the United Garment Workers' association went on strike. Unless the bosses concede their demands, which are for a recognition of the union and better terms, before night the finishers and buttonhole makers, numbering another thousand, are said to be ready to go out, and the difficulty will affect 8,000 laborers.

The Situation at Ishpeming. Ishpeming, Mich., Aug. 26.—A committee from the miners' union waited on President Mather of Cleveland Cliffs company Saturday night requesting him to communicate to the union the message he wished to deliver to former employees Saturday afternoon when he was prevented by the crowding in of miners from other properties. He declined, but stated that his company had cash investments of upward of $3,000,000, and had lost money both in 1893 and 1894, and was under heavy expense during the strike. In his opinion the men should be willing, under the circumstances, to meet the company half way.

Gloomy Outlook for Glass Workers.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 26.—The failure of the window glass manufacturers' and workers' wage committees to agree on a scale at their fourth meeting has cast, to a great extent, a gloom over the great Indiana glass field. The manufacturers agree to give a 10 per cent increase and the workers, who demanded a 17 per cent raise, have come down to 12½. Both announce that they have issued their final and state that it can come to a lock out if the other does not come in.

He Had One of the Most Complete Outfit Ever Seen in the State and Admits That He Has Been in the Business For Nine Years—Murder At Viroqua

Whitewater, Aug. 26.—Henry Chamberlain was arrested this morning on the charge of making counterfeit dollars. He had one of the best outfits ever seen in the state and was found with much bogus money on his person. The police have been working on the case for a year. Chamberlain admits that he has been in the business for nine years.

VINEYARDS DEVASTED.

California Growers Lose Heavily by Grape Diseases.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The grape diseases on the Pacific coast are reviewed in a report compiled by Newton B. Pierce and issued by the agricultural department. It says that more than one-half of the grapes of the country are grown on the Pacific coast, California alone having approximately two hundred thousand acres of vines. It is shown that the main reason why vine diseases are more destructive on the Pacific than on the Atlantic is because the European or tender varieties are grown in the former and the American or hardy vines in the latter part of the United States. The most serious of the plant maladies is the California vine disease, which has already killed more than thirty thousand acres of the most thrifty and productive vineyards. So far, it is estimated that the disease has caused a direct and indirect loss of not less than $20,000,000. Powdery mildew is one of the most common fungous diseases of the vine, but it is easily treated with sulphur. Couleure is responsible for the loss of many million dollars in California and Arizona. The report predicts that the crossing of muscat, muscatel and other varieties of the vines will ultimately do away with the losses from couleure in raisin grapes.

MINISTER RANSOM'S CASE.

He May Not Return to the City of Mexico.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Matt W. Ransom, of North Carolina, will be reappointed United States Minister to Mexico. Whether Mr. Ransom will return to Mexico or not will depend entirely upon his own wishes. Mr. Ransom will be governed largely, if not entirely, by consideration as to his health. His experience with the climate of Mexico last spring was not such as to greatly encourage him to return. Mr. Ransom was not well when he went to Mexico, however, and his physicians thought the unfavorable effect of the climate was largely due to his then physical condition. Since his return to this country he has recovered his health.

U. S. Man-of-War at Algiers.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The navy department has been informed of the arrival of the cruiser Marblehead, of Admiral Kirkland's European squadron, at Algiers, Africa. She will probably make a cruise of the Mediterranean. The admiral has discretionary orders to go to Turkey to look out for the protection of American interests, arising in connection with the recent trouble at the American school at Tarsus, but in view of the apparently satisfactory adjustment of affairs at that place, he may not find it necessary to make the journey.

Bank Officers Arrested.

GATHER AT BOSTON.

Immense Attendance of Knights Templar Is Assured.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26.—The twenty-sixth triennial convocation of the Knights Templars, which opens in this city this morning, promises to be the largest in point of attendance and the most important gathering of the Masonic fraternity in the United States in the history of the order. The returns received at the headquarters of the triennial committee indicate an assemblage of 30,000 Knights Templars. Over 10,000 visiting Sir Knights, with their lady friends, were yesterday added to the list of fraters who are to own Boston for the next five days. At night there were fully 20,000 visitors in the city.

SIR HUGH MCCURDY.

The scene at the station in the morning was most beautiful. Lined up on the platform facing the train were 300 members of Boston Commandery to receive their grand master. When Grand Master McCurdy alighted from the train the Boston knights were at "present," while a crowd of fully 10,000 spectators cheered and yelled for fully five minutes. A conservative estimate puts the number of spectators at 100,000, who lined the streets through which the procession marched from the station to the Masonic Temple.

DEAD MAN IDENTIFIED.

Slayer of Detective Powers at Grand Rapids Receives His Reward.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 26.—Officers Dean and Jackway, who went to McLean to view the remains of the man shot there Saturday night by a posse of officers and citizens, positively identify him as the man who killed Detective Powers in the city last Thursday night, when the latter attempted to arrest him as one of the Chicago & West Michigan train robbers. Conductor Rice will go up to-day to see if he was one of the men who held up the train. The dead man is George F. Smalley and he was shot at the home of his brother, Lip Smith. Information received here has convinced the officers that the other three of the train robbers are near the lake shore in the vicinity of Pentwater, and all their efforts are being centered in following a clew that was obtained at East Golden, Oceana county, yesterday.

Durrant Has a Witness.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 26.—The attorneys for Theodore Durrant have two witnesses, Marius Burnett and Edward McPherson, by whom they expect to prove that their client was on Market street at the moment when the prosecution insists he was mutilating the body of Blanche Lamont in the library of Emanuel church. It is now admitted that Durrant's first story of his movements on the night Minnie Williams was murdered, when he said he went to the armory, is untrue. He started for the signal corps armory, but became absorbed in the Christian Endeavor accounts which he carried with him and rode downtown.

Jail Delivery Frustrated.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 26.—A wholesale delivery of about all the prisoners confined in one of the wards of the county jail was frustrated last evening by the accidental discovery of a tunnel through which the prisoners had hoped to regain their liberty. The tunnel was so nearly completed that it is believed the men would have gained their freedom to-day in the daytime, when the cell doors would have been left open into the corridor. The prisoners evidently had worked for weeks upon the tunnel.

Insurgents Winning.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 26.—Passengers arriving from Cuba report that General Serafin Sanchez engaged Colonel Palanco's forces in Santa Clara, routing the latter and taking a number of prisoners. It is rumored that General Maceo captured Jiguany, in Santiago province. In Quines, near Matanzas, a band of 100, under the leadership of a doctor, has joined the insurgents. A number of the prominent men of Holguin have joined the rebels.

Remoted Killing of Fifteen Indians.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 26.—No further news has been received concerning the reported massacre of fifteen Bannock Indians in Diamond valley by cattlemen.

At Ontario, the nearest telegraph office to the scene of the reported trouble, it is believed there is some truth in the rumor, but no further confirmation can be secured until the arrival of the stage. "Rye" Smith, said to be the leader of the cowboys, is known to be a hard character. If the Bannock Indians were in the vicinity they were there for the purpose of hunting.

THE KENOSHA BANK DID NOT REOPEN

GREAT EXCITEMENT CAUSED BY THE FAILURE TO DO SO.

President Now Says That They May Be Able to Pay Seventy-Five Cents On the Dollar—Depositors Are Nearly All Farmers and They Are Clamoring for Their Cash.

Kenosha, Aug. 26.—The Dan Head bank, which was to have opened this morning, failed to open its doors. The depositors are nearly all farmers and there is considerable excitement here. The president says he will probably pay seventy-five cents on the dollar. The excitement over the bank's failure charged to alarm yesterday, when notices were posted on the doors and windows. "Closed until further notice." The friends and depositors of the bank who had trusted implicitly in the notice that the doors would be opened this morning for business were taken aback and wondered if it really could be true that the bank had failed.

FOREST FIRES IN NEW JERSEY

Farmers Have a Desperate Fight With the Flames—Other Blazes.

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 26.—The forest fires have broken out again near this place. Gangs of men from the West Jersey and South Jersey railroads are fighting the fires in the neighborhood of Goshen. Fifty acres of land have been burned away. A heavy wind fanned the flames all last night, but in the evening the wind died out and the farmers hope to control the fire by to-morrow.

The fires have been sweeping toward East Vineland. The farmers at New Italy are alarmed and fear their entire crop will be lost. A fire brigade has been organized to fight the flames and the men are now trying to stop the burning grass and timber before it reaches that place. Some of the finest timber land and cranberry bogs in the state have been destroyed.

TWO CHILDREN WILL DIE.

Fatal Fire in a Menominee, Mich., Boarding House.

Menominee, Mich., Aug. 26.—Fire caught yesterday at a Michigan avenue boarding-house kept by John Anderson, and his two boys, John and Matthew, aged 7 and 5 years, who were asleep, were so badly burned that both will die. Those fatally burned were: John Anderson, Jr., aged 7. Matthew Anderson, aged 5. The father was severely burned while rescuing the children. The mother jumped from a second-story window with a little babe and fractured one of her legs.

Arena at Roby, Ind., Destroyed.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—The arena of the Columbian Athletic Association at Roby and Prof. James Robertson's hotel burned last night. The fire originated in the hotel and was caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove. Professor Robertson is in Boston, and it could not be positively learned last night whether he carried any insurance on his building. The arena was not insured. The loss in both cases is total and will be about $5,000.

New York Village Damaged.

Kingston, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Fire at the village of Rosendale yesterday destroyed seventeen buildings. For a time the whole village was threatened. Rosendale is situated on the Delaware and Hudson canal. The fire started in a barn and quickly spread to the houses on the street and then in all directions until about every building along the canal was destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown. The damage is estimated at $75,000.

A Boy's Awful Death.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 26.—A suit for $25,000 has been filed by David Daniels against the American Wire Nail Company of this city for the death of his son Will. The boy was working in the pits last spring catching and straightening out the red-hot wire as it came through the rolls, and the end caught him and it coiled around his body like a snake. He was literally burned to pieces and his death went on record as one of the most horrible in the history of gas belt accidents. He was but 13 years old.

Requital Wins the Futurity.

New York, Aug. 26.—The great $70,000 Futurity Saturday was won with old Arab's half-brother Requital. He carried his 115 pounds and went the Futurity course, which is 170 feet short of six furlongs, in 1:11 2-5, winning in a common canter. Had he been pushed many think he would have lowered the time, 1:11, made by The Butterflies last year.

Beatrice Officials Bound Over.

Beatrice, Neb., Aug. 26.—City Clerk Phillips and Water Commissioner Hawkins had their preliminary hearing Saturday, there being three informations against Phillips and two against Hawkins. They were bound over upon all the charges against them. Phillips' bond aggregated $5,000 and Hawkins' $3,000.

CALL FROM THE EAST FOR CHRISTIAN AID

ARMENIAN OUTRAGES LAID BEFORE A UNION MEETING.

Nashan H. Kussabian Stands in the Baptist Pulpit and Tells of the Outrages Perpetrated by Turks and Kurds in Christian Provinces—Local Church News.

Four congregations united in the service at the Baptist church last evening, and were told of Armenian abuses, by N. H. Kassabian. Rev. Dr. Hodge, Rev. S. P. Wilder, Rev. A. Porter and Rev. E. H. Pence occupied seats on the platform, and Rev. Mr. Pence made the opening prayer. Mr. Kassabian was introduced by Rev. Mr. Wilder, who spoke briefly of the sufferings that Christians had undergone in Turkish territory.

Mr. Kassabian described the sufferings of his countrymen in graphic fashion. The conditions that brought about the recent massacres were given in detail. At the close of his address a resolution was presented, calling upon the signatory powers of the Berlin treaty, and especially Great Britain, to compel reforms. These resolutions will be laid before the secretary of state, the British foreign office, the London News and William E. Gladstone. They read as follows:

Murdered by Thier Rulers.

In view of the unquestioned fact that the Armenian Christians in Turkey have for years been systematically oppressed and plundered and often murdered by the rulers of the country and neighboring Kurds without protection or redress from the Turkish authorities and in view of the general and well grounded belief that the Turkish government at Constantinople connived at, if it did not directly instigate, the recent horrible massacres of Armenians, with the attendant barbarities worse than death. Therefore be it

Resolved: That we, the citizens of Janesville, Wisconsin, gathered in public assembly, express our indignation and horror at these inhuman outrages, and at the persistent failure of the Turkish government to rule with justice the Christian communities in its domain: And that we express to our suffering brethren in Armenia our deepest sympathy under their cruel wrongs.

Resolved, That the United States government be requested to use its influence in all possible ways to induce the Turkish government to accept the reform measures proposed by the European powers, and to furnish a sure guaranty for their executions.

Resolved, That we believe such reforms indispensable not only for the welfare of the native Armenian subjects of Turkey, but for the personal safety of American citizens residing or traveling in that country.

High Commissioner Needed.

Resolved, That in our judgment the needed reforms demand the appointment of a high commissioner for Armenia, who shall not be an Ottoman subject nor in previous official service under the Turkish government; but who shall be responsible directly and solely to the European powers and pledged to them to execute the needed reforms.

Resolved, That we see no possible hope for the future peace or prosperity or safety of any of the people left under the barbarous despotism of Turkish authority, and we believe the time has come when the great powers of Europe can no longer with justice hold up the Turkish government which has long been only a curse to its own subjects and a disgrace to modern civilization. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the state department of our country at Washington, to the British foreign office at London, and a copy to the London Daily News.

E. H. PENCE, pastor 1st Pres.
ANDREW PORTER, 1st M. E.
S. P. WILDER, Con'l.
M. G. HODGE, Baptist.

Mr. Kassabian sang in the Armenian tongue during the evening and there was a solo by E. O. Kimberly, inspired by the recent massacres.

Christ Working Today.

The Congregationalists who were out of town, or those who in town stayed away from church, missed a treat yesterday morning. From the text found in John 14:22, Rev. Mr. Wilder drew many helpful thoughts. While the works of Christ were intensely practical and came home to every day needs and conditions of men about him, their chief significance was not in their bearing upon that day nor that little corner of the earth. His words of instruction, of comfort, of warning to the common people about Him were prophetic of the great truths that should find utterance and meet needs at all time. His work was not the selecting of a few here and there, but the rebuilding of a new and glorious kingdom of love, peace and joy on earth. He sought the final redemption of the whole of creation. He did not employ sensational methods or questionable means, but met the needs of the people. The world is more and more recognizing Christ as the source of all those evolutionary forces which have ushered in the wonderful civilization of the nineteenth century.

The works which Christ did, his body of believers are doing today. In this connection medical men, surgeons, modern sanitary methods, researches in bacteriology, wonderful uses of electricity, steamships and other modes of transportation bringing the ends of the earth nearer together than were Jerusalem and Rome in olden times, were all mentioned as being inspirations of Christ. His disciples working today were meeting the needs of the people. Thursday evening of this week comes the covenant meeting of this church.

Too Many Sunday School Papers.

Rev. Dr. Halsey surprised some of his hearers Sunday by declaring that it would have been a good thing had every Sunday school paper been used to build bonfires with ten years ago. He held that such papers had diverted children's minds from systematic bible study. "The scriptural passages that are kept freshest in mind," he said, "are those committed to memory between the ages of eight and fourteen."

Christian Endeavor Meetings.

The Congregational Y. P. S. C. E. enjoyed their regular monthly consecration meeting last evening. The messages from absent members, the five new members received, and fruitful and helpful subject all helped in making it one of the most inspiring meeting meetings held for some time. George I. Stratton gave a few farewell words, this being his last Sunday previous to going on the road for the Good Templars.

The Christian Endeavor meeting of the Baptist society was unusually well attended last evening. The subject "Conquering Difficulties Through Christ," was presented in a helpful way by the leader, and many good thoughts were brought out during the meeting by those present.

Dr. H. A. Palmer led the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Venerable Archdeacon Susan conducted services at Trinity church yesterday, in the absence of the rector, Rev. Mr. Wotton.

WHAT WHEELMEN ARE DOING

A good sized delegation gathered at the race track to see a number of local riders preparing for the circuit meet. The track is in great shape for the recent rain has made it as a polished floor and the riders made little work of a five mile spin. Wheeler, Pfennig and Reynolds were on hand but the stiff wind, which blew up the home stretch, prevented any record breaking. Pfennig with a standing start made a quarter in .33 which was considered good time with such a strong wind.

For the management of this week's bicycle races no little credit is due to the secretary, Dr. C. T. Pearce who has from the start, devoted a great deal of energy and time to making them a success. It is mainly through his untiring efforts that the Arrow Cycling Club has attained its present high standing.

Forty wheelmen have entered in the circuit meet. The last names received were: L. E. Lange, Chicago; J. F. Reitzner, Milwaukee; C. S. Berryman, Madison; M. L. O'Brien, Milwaukee; C. Tallman, Janesville, and H. A. Zerbel and H. W. Crocker forming the Milwaukee tandem team.

The party to be given by the Arrow Cyclers, Friday evening at the Armory, promises to prove very enjoyable. No invitations will be issued, but those who received invitations to the last Cyclers' party and those only will be admitted to the hall.

If a handicap is given a new rider may be heard from at this weeks meet. He is Charlie Caldwell who is visiting here from Nashville, Tenn. At a recent trial at the track he made a quarter with a flying start in 35 seconds.

Hodson, Pfennig and Reynolds collided while making a fast mile at the track and Hodson's wheel went to the repair shop, while Pfennig will nurse a bruised leg for some time.

J. L. FLETCHER and Robert Bear started out yesterday to visit Lake Geneva but when out five miles they found the mud a little too thick and returned.

A new upright piano now graces the club house of the Arrow Cyclers and will be much appreciated by the boys this winter.

At this week's races A. J. Nicholet of Chicago will act as starter, while J. G. DeLong will be clerk of the course.

HARRY SYKES wheeled through the city this morning on his way from Milton to Spring Valley on a visit.

CHICAGO has sent out the greatest number of cycle riders who have passed through town this summer.

CHICAGO will be well represented at the race meeting. Several of her best riders will be here.

A NUMBER of wheelmen took a moonlight ride to Milton last week.

A FINE PORKER MADE THE BEST OF ROASTS

SHERIFF AND EX-SHERIFF WERE THE HOSTS.

They Secured a Pig of High Degree. 'Twas Cooked as Well as Well Could Be; 'Twas Served, Indeed, Most Gracefully and Eaten,—Yea, Forsooth,—Entirely.

WENTY one guests sat down to a banquet with Sheriff Appleby and Officer John W. Hogan at Con. McDonald's cafe Saturday night, the occasion being a "pig roasting" which all enjoyed fully. Various subjects were assigned to those present, and all had to "sing a song, dance a jig or tell a story" as the saying goes. E. M. Hyzer acted as toastmaster and his suggestions being in his usual happy vein, the responses were of an unusually interesting nature. The banquet was a most toothsome one, the pig, which weighed thirty-three pounds, being roasted entire. Celery, sweet and Irish potatoes, white and brown bread, potato salad, apple sauce, pickles and other "trimmings," as the caterer is wont to call them, added spice to the feast, and all made the remark that a sinner was never more skillfully prepared or more gracefully served.

After the table had been relieved of considerable of its load, the cigars were lighted and an hour or two was passed in sociability, after which the guests tendered their well wishes to the hosts and dispersed to their homes. Didn't Eat Barbeled Pork. And the pig they ate was no common animal. It was not the kind that makes hal' as much noise two pigs when they get caught under the gate. Far from it. It was a "game" animal and had been pampered in the lap of luxury. This was plainly shown, when the skin bursting was. Guests said they never ate a better pig and they told the truth. Where the pig came from was considerable of a mystery, but it was there, and it was good, so inquiries were not pressed. It was intimated, that the hosts had been put to considerable trouble to get so nice a porker, as none of the markets afforded animals of so high degree. It was an imported pig, fattened on the succulent acorn, the pungent bitter nut, and the crisp herbs of the forest. Such pigs do not develop on the common feed of the farm.

The Guests Who Were There. When you want "a pig as is a pig" and one that is fit for the gods, you must capture him in his native lair; in the depths of the virgin wood; uncontaminated by the artificial influences of civilization; a stranger to the vicious habit of wallowing in the mire, and unused to any life other than one that hardens the flesh; puts on a "streak of fat and a streak of lean" in the exact proportion necessary to make it what this one was—a pig of high degree. The guests who discussed the good qualities of this high bred and noble animal were:

W. JACKSON MAKES A GOOD RECORD District Attorney Transacts The County's Business In An Able Manner.

The electors of Rock county made no mistake when they chose William A. Jackson for their district attorney, as the court records will show. Mr. Jackson is a young man, but he is a keen one. Since he has been acting in that capacity more men have been sent to the penitentiary than during the same length of time of any other lawyer's tenure of office. This does not reflect in the least on any of the former able officials, but it certainly does do the present incumbent much credit. Mr. Jackson's success in the final trial of Ellen Shafer was good evidence of his ability as he was pitted against a man who is admittedly one of the most able members of the Rock county bar—William Smith—in a very difficult prosecution.

While but a miss of fifteen years, Miss Slightam carries herself with the grace and ease of any schooled foot-light favorite. It is unfortunate for theatre goers, though probably well for the dainty miss that some ballet manager has not heard of her graceful accomplishment."

ELLEN FOUND GUILTY OF SELLING BEER

DISTRICT ATTORNEY JACKSON WINS THE CASE.

The Defendant Has Been Fined on the Same Charge a Good Many Times But Only Once Before Has She Been Convicted—Jury Was Only Out Fifteen Minutes.

District Attorney Jackson scored a big victory Saturday afternoon when he convicted Ellen Shafer of selling liquor without a license, and the court imposed a fine of $50 and costs, amounting in all to $100 or more. The case was tried in Ellen's native heath, Orfordville, and the jury was only out fifteen minutes. Ellen has been charged with the same offense a number of times before. The circuit court records show that she has been before that tribunal a number of times, some of which were on indictments. The municipal court records show that she has been before that court repeatedly, and only once before was she convicted, although she has pleaded guilty on one or two occasions.

Ellen's defense, in this case as in others, was that she simply furnished storage room in her hotel for the cases of beer owned by private parties, but in this case the ruse was not successful. The same case was tried last week and resulted in a disagreement, the vote standing five for conviction and one for acquittal, the trial being before a jury of six in Justice George Helmbolt's court. The second trial was begun on Friday morning, and ended late Saturday afternoon, the district attorney not returning home until 8:30 o'clock Saturday night. The verdict of the jury was a great surprise to Ellen, who evidently expected that they would be out sometime and again report a disagreement. Attorney William Smith conducted the defense. It is said that the case will be appealed.

J. C. LOWE ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Former Janesville Man Loses His Life Under Sad Circumstances.

James C. Lowe, a member of the Baptist church of Janesville and a former student at Valentine's school of telegraphy was accidentally shot and killed at Pittsfield, Ill., a few days ago, and the minister whom Lowe had notified to be ready to perform the ceremony that would make Miss Nora Holoway Mrs. Lowe on Sept. 4, was called home from his vacation to conduct the funeral services instead. Mr. Lowe resided in Janesville for some time and completed his course at Valentine's school but a short time ago. He was active in the affairs of the F. F. society, an organization composed of the students and had frequently appeared in their public entertainments. He joined the Baptist church, while here, and was highly spoken of by all who knew him.

He was packing up his clothes to return to Wisconsin at the time of the accident, and in placing a revolver in his satchel, it was discharged and the ball entered his liver, causing death after an operation had been unsuccessful. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen and Home Forum and had $5,000 life insurance.

SUNDAY'S SERMON BY DR. TALMAGE

A TALK WITH THE BEREAVED AND FAINT-HEARTED.

The Glories and Attractions of the World Beyond the Skies—"Eye Hath Not Seen Nor Ear Heard"—Corinthians
I, II-9.

I AM going to heaven! I am going to heaven! Heaven! Heaven! Heaven! These were the last words uttered a few days ago by my precious wife as she ascended to be with God for ever, and is it not natural, as well as Christianly appropriate, that our thoughts be much directed toward the glorious residence of which St. Paul speaks in the text I have chosen.

The city of Corinth has been called the Paris of antiquity. Indeed, for splendor, the world holds no such wonder-to-day. It stood on an isthmus washed by two seas, the one sea bringing the commerce of Europe, the other the commerce of Asia. From her wharves, in the construction of which whole kingdoms had been absorbed, war-galleys with three banks of oars pushed out and confounded the navy yards of all the world. Huge-handed machinery, such as modern invention cannot equal, lifted ships from the sea on one side and transported them on trucks across the isthmus and set them down in the sea on the other side. The revenue officers of the city went down through the olive groves that lined the beach to collect a tariff from all nations. The mirth of all people sported in her isthmian games, and the beauty of all lands sat in her theaters, walked her porticos, and threw itself on the altar of her stupendous dissipations. Column, and statue, and temple bewildered the beholder. There were white marble fountains into which, from apertures at the side, there rushed waters everywhere known for health-giving qualities. Around these basins, twisted into wreaths of stone, there were all the beauties of sculpture and architecture; while standing, as if to guard the costly display, was a statue of Hercules of burnished Corinthian brass. Vases of terra-cotta adorned the cemeteries of the dead—vases so costly that Julius Caesar was not satisfied until he had captured them for Rome. Armed officials, the "Corinthiarii," paced up and down to see that no statue was defaced, no pedestal overthrown, no bas-relief touched. From the edge of the city a hill arose, with its magnificent burden of columns, and towers, and temples (one thousand slaves awaiting at one shrine), and a citadel so thoroughly impregnable that Gibraltar is a heap of sand compared with it. Amid all that strength and magnificence, Corinth stood and defied the world.

Oh! it was not to rustics who had never seen anything grand that St. Paul uttered this text. They had heard the best music that had come from the best instruments in all the world; they had heard songs floating from morning porticos and melting in evening groves; they had passed their whole lives away among pictures, and sculpture, and architecture, and Corinthian brass, which had been molded and shaped, until there was no chariot wheel in which it had not sped, and no tower in which it had not glittered, and no gateway that it had not adorned. Ah, it was a bold thing for Paul to stand there amid all that, and say, "All this is nothing. These sounds that come from the temple of Neptune are not music compared with the harmony of which I speak. These waters rushing in the basin of Pyrene are not pure. These statues of Bacchus and Mercury are not exquisite. Yon citadel of Acrocorinthus is not strong compared with that which I offer to the poorest slave that puts down his burden at that brazen gate. You, Corinthians, think this is a splendid city; you think you have heard all sweet sounds, and seen all beautiful sights; but I tell you 'eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him.'"

You see my text sets forth the idea that, however exalted our ideas may be of heaven, they come far short of the reality. Some wise men have been calculating how many furlongs long and wide is heaven; and they have calculated how many inhabitants there are on the earth; how long the earth will probably stand; and then they come to this estimate: that after all the nations had been gathered to heaven, there will be a room for each soul—a room sixteen feet long and fifteen feet wide. It would not be large enough for me. I am glad to know that no human estimate is sufficient to take the dimensions. "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard," nor arithmetic calculated.

I first remark that we can in this world get no idea of the health of heaven. When you were a child, and you went out in the morning, how you bounded along the road or street—you had never felt sorrow or sickness! Perhaps later—perhaps in these very summer days—you felt a glow in your cheek, and a spring in your step, and an exuberance of spirits, and a clearness of eye, that made you thank God you were permitted to live. The nerves were harp-strings, and the sunlight was a doxology, and the rustling leaves were the rustling of the robes of a great crowd rising up to praise the Lord. You thought that you knew what it was to be well, but there is no perfect health on earth. The diseases of past generations come down to us. The airs that float on the earth are unlike those which floated above Paradise. They are charged with impurities and distempers. The most elastic and robust health of earth, compared with that which those experience before whom the gates have been opened, is nothing but sickness and emaciation. Look at that soul standing before the throne. On earth she was a life-long invalid. See her step now and hear her voice now! Catch, if you can, one breath of that celestial air. Health in all the pulses! Health of vision; health of spirits; immortal health. No racking cough, no sharp pleurisies, no consuming fevers, no exhausting pains, no hospitals of wounded men. Health swinging in the air; health flowing in all the streams; health blooming on the banks. No headaches, no sideaches, no backaches. . . .

St. John bids us look again, and we see the great procession of the redeemed passing; Jesus, on a white horse, leads the march, and all the armies of salvation following on white horses. Infinite cavalcade passing, passing; empires pressing into line, ages following ages. Dispensation tramping on after dispensation. Glory in the track of glory. Europe, Asia, Africa, and North and South America pressing into lines. Islands of the sea shoulder to shoulder. Generations before the flood following generations after the flood, and as Jesus rises at the head of that great host and waves his sword in signal of victory, all crowns are lifted, and all ensigns flung out, and all chimes rung, and all hallelujahs chanted, and some cry, "Glory to God most high," and some "Hosanna to the Son of David;" and some, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain"—till all exclamations of endearment and homage in the vocabulary of heaven are exhausted, and there come up surge after surge of "Amen! Amen! Amen!"

"Eye hath not seen it, ear hath not heard it." Skim from the summer waters the brightest sparkles, and you will get no idea of the sheen of the everlasting sea. Pile up the splendors of earthly cities, and they would not make a stepping-stone by which you might mount to the city of God. Every house is a palace. Every step a triumph. Every covering of the head a coronation. Every meal is a banquet. Every stroke from the tower is a wedding-bell. Every day is a jubilee, every hour a rapture, and every moment an ecstasy. "Eye hath not seen it, ear hath not heard it."

I remark, further, we can get no idea on earth of the re-unions of heaven. If you have ever been across the sea, and met a friend, or even an acquaintance, in some strange city, you remember how your blood thrilled, and how glad you were to see him. What then will be our joy, after we have passed the seas of death, to meet in the bright city of the sun those from whom we have long been separated! After we have been away from our friends ten or fifteen years, and we come upon them, we see how differently they look. The hair has turned, and wrinkles have come in their faces, and we say, "How you have changed!" But oh, when you stand before the throne, all cares gone from the face, all marks of sorrow disappeared, and feeling the joy of that blessed land, methinks we will say to each other, with an exultation we cannot now imagine, "How you have changed!" In this world we only meet to part. It is good-by, good-by. Farewells floating in the air. We hear it at the rail-car window, and at the steamboat wharf—good-by. Children lip it, and old age answers it. Sometimes we say it in a light way—"good-by;" and sometimes with anguish in which the soul breaks down. Good-by! Ah! that is the word that ends the thanksgiving banquet; that is the word that comes in to close the Christmas chant. Good-by! good-by! But not so in heaven. Welcomes in the air, welcomes at the gates, welcomes at the house of many mansions—but, no good-by. That group is constantly being augmented. They are going up from our circles of earth to join it—little voices to join the anthem—little hands to take hold of it in the great home circle—little feet to dance in the eternal glee—little crowns to be cast down before the feet of Jesus.

A little child's mother had died, and they comforted her. They said: "Your mother has gone to heaven—don't cry;" and the next day they went to the graveyard, and they laid the body of the mother down into ground; and the little girl came up to the verge of the grave, and, looking down at the body of her mother, said, "Is this heaven?" Oh! we have no idea what heaven is. It is the grave here—it is darkness here—but there is merry-making yonder. Methinks when a soul arrives, some angel takes it around to show it the wonders of that blessed place. The usher-angel says to the newly-arrived: "These are the martyrs that perished at Piedmont; these were torn to pieces at the Inquisition; this is the throne of the great Jehovah; this is Jesus!" "I am going to see Jesus," said a dying negro boy. "I am going to see Jesus;" and the missionary said, "You are sure you will see him?" "Oh! yes; that's what I want to go to heaven for."

"But," said the missionary, "suppose that Jesus should go away from heaven—what then?" "I should follow him," said the dying negro boy. "But if Jesus went down to hell—what then?" The dying boy thought for a moment, and then he said, "Massa, where Jesus is, there can be no hell!" Oh, to stand in his presence! That will be heaven! Oh, to put our hand in that hand which was wounded for us on the cross—to go around amid all the groups of the redeemed, and shake hands with prophets, and Apostles, and martyrs, and with our own dear, beloved ones! That will be the great reunion; we cannot imagine it now, our loved ones seem so far away. When we are in trouble and lonesome, they don't seem to come to us. We go on the banks of the Jordan and call across to them, but they don't seem to hear. We say, "Is it well with the child? Is it well with the loved ones?" and we listen to hear if any voice comes back over the waters. None! none! Unbelief says, "They are dead and extinct forever," but, blessed be God, we have a Bible that tells us different. We open it and find that they are neither dead nor extinct—that they are only waiting for our coming, and that we shall join them on the other side of the river. Oh, glorious reunion; we cannot grasp it now. "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

I remark again, we can in this world get no idea of the song of heaven. You know there is nothing more inspiring than music. In the battle of Waterloo, the Highlanders were giving way, and Wellington found out that the bands of music had ceased playing. He sent a quick dispatch, telling them to play, with utmost spirit, a battle march. The music started, the Highlanders were rallied, and they dashed on till the day was won. We appreciate the power of secular music; but do we appreciate the power of sacred song? There is nothing more inspiring to me than a whole congregation lifted upon the wave of holy melody. When we sing some of those dear old psalms and tunes they rouse all the memories of the past. Why, some of them were cradle-songs in our father's house. They are all sparkling with the morning dew of a thousand Christian Sabbaths. They were sung by brothers and sisters gone now—by voices that were aged and broken in the music—voices none the less sweet because they did tremble and break. When I hear these old songs sung, it seems as if all the old country meeting homes joined in the chorus, and Scotch kirk and Sallor's Bethel and Western cabins, until the whole continent lifts the doxology and the scepters of eternity beat time to the music. Away then with your starveling tunes that chill the devotions of the sanctuary, and make the people sit silent when Jesus is coming to hosanna.

But, my friends, if music on earth is so sweet, what will it be in heaven! They all know the tune there. Methinks the tune of heaven will be made up partly from the songs of earth; the best parts of all our hymns and tunes going to add to the song of Moses and the Lamb. All the best singers of all the ages will join it—choirs of white-robed children! choirs of patriarchs! choirs of Apostles! Morning stars clapping their cymbals. Harpers with their harps. Great anthems of God, roll on! roll on!—other empires joining the harmony till the thrones are full of it, and the nations all saved. Anthem shall touch anthem, chorus join chorus, and all the sweet sounds of earth and heaven be poured into the ear of Christ. David of the harp will be there. Gabriel of the trumpet will be there. Germany, redeemed, will pour its deep base voice into the song, and Africa will add to the music with her matchless voices.

I wish we could anticipate that song. I wish in the closing hymns of the churches to-day we might catch an echo that slips from the gates. Who knows but that when the heavenly door opens to-day to let some soul through, there may come forth the strain of the jubilation voices until we catch it? Oh, that as the song drops down from heaven it might meet half way a song coming up from earth!

Her Want Satisfied.

Mr. Moody tells a wonderful incident illustrating the power of the Holy Ghost. He says:

"When we were in Philadelphia, a lady said to me, 'Mr. Moody, can woman have the power of the Holy Spirit?' I told her I saw no reason why any one should not have it that wanted to work for God. Women need it as much as men. 'Well,' said she, 'if I can have it, I want it. I have a husband who is not a Christian; I have also a Sunday school class, and they are unconverted.'"

"A week from that time she came to me and said, 'I have got it. The Lord has blessed me. My husband has been converted, and five of my Sunday school class.' That was the result of that woman's receiving the power of the Holy Ghost. It spread all through the church of which she was a member, and the people, seeing that she had something which they had not, began to inquire, and as a result five hundred members were added to the church."

A Hero.

Nay, never falter; no great deed is done by falterers who ask for certainty. No good is certain but the steadfast mind. The undivided will to seek the good; 'Tis that compels the elements, and wrings A human music from the indifferent air. The greatest gift a hero leaves his race is to have been a hero. —George Eliot.

A Seven-Day Religion.

A religion with force enough about it to rout you out on Sunday morning and make you change your clothes and go to church and sit and listen to the sermon is too good and forceful a thing to be kept hidden six days in the week. A religion that will make a man talk like a saint ought to keep him from acting like Satan. If you haven't enough religion for week days and Sundays, let the Sundays go.—Ram's Horn.

Privilege and Duty.

The highest privilege should not keep us from our present duty. It would have been delightful to remain on the mountain, but the glory had been seen, the blessed experience needful for future strength had been enjoyed, and now the disciples must go back to their duty in everyday life.—United Presbyterian.

MR. WHITNEY'S GARDEN.

Located in New York City, It Is Worth a Million Dollars.

A picturesque lawn is that of William C. Whitney in New York city. Here the work of years is shown, and the tall columns and gables alongside are wreathed in vines. These are during June a vivid green; and of such small even leaf that the like is not known in New York—not even upon old Trinity, whose vines were brought from abroad by William Astor. The Whitney garden runs alongside the house and covers an immensely valuable plot of ground. Here there could easily be a double apartment house erected, with rents as enormous as those of the flat house a little further west where William D. Howells lives. But Mr. Whitney will not build. He loves that city garden, and so do his children love it. One of its principal features is a snug dog kennel, covered with ivy. Almost every day during June you may see Mr. Whitney, always distinguished with eyeglasses and polished from boot to beaver, standing in front of his $1,000,000 garden, admiring it. Sometimes his daughter joins him, and here the two stand and talk, seemingly making plans for the day and spending their happiest outdoor moments. From the upper window of the vine-covered gable of William C. Whitney's house may be seen the city garden of John D. Rockefeller, three squares below. This is No. 4 West 54th street, just out of Fifth avenue, but so near it that none of the value is lost. In fact, Mr. Rockefeller selected this spot a door away from "Croesus" street because he could see up and down the avenue without having all its publicity. The lawn, which he laid out, is the most beautiful one in the city from an artistic standpoint. The Rockefeller house is a large square one, very deep, and alongside it, running nearly fully three house lots in extent, is the city garden. A tall iron fence screens it a little, but the tall palms tower above, and from the gardens grow flowering vines upon arbors and house walls. Now the wisteria is just dying off, but the summer ivy is bright green, and there are yards and yards of honeysuckles.

ROCK COUNTY'S CHEESE.

Why has cheese making suffered such a decline in Rock and other dairying counties? There was a day, and not long ago, when Wisconsin cheese sold at a premium in the eastern and European markets. Since then the Wisconsin brand has been used too often on "filled" stock and the reputation of the state has fallen. Cheesemakers say manufacturers in other states are the ones who do this, but the last farmers' convention in Milton Junction was told that filled cheese was made in every factory in Rock county except one, and nobody stood up to deny it. As long as this condition prevails prices will be at the mercy of the dealers. There is no reason why Rock county should not produce cheese that can compete successfully with the best foreign product. Certainly the materials are here and the methods can be secured by continued effort. Canada realized the value of the best methods and the dominion government some years ago secured the most scientific instructors available at its own expense. The value of their work was seen when the exports of cheese to the states multiplied many times, and when Canadian cheese sold in London for the same price as Cheddars and Stiltons.

NOT TENDER-HEARTED.

Miss Sarah Bosworth, formerly of this city writes to Wisconsin friends concerning the theory that the Chinese are actuated by a reluctance to punish their own criminals. She says, and all who have investigated will agree, that this is far from being the case. The Chinese penal system is so severe that it may be more fitly described as ferocious, and the state, according to all accounts, displays a cheerful alacrity in pronouncing and executing sentence for crimes of all shades. The point about which Americans have to concern themselves is not whether the Chinese authorities are disposed to deal leniently with their criminals, but that they shall recognize as criminals those who were concerned in the murder and spoliation of the American missionaries.

MERELY 2,000 YEARS DIFFERENT.

In one of the Sunday papers the Roman Coliseum, labelled "2,000 years," but as solid as ever, is shown strolling across to see a pile of ruins labelled "Chicago Coliseum—60 days." Certain it is that Chicago papers which have been lecturing New York on the Buddenstiek building inspection methods, have been furnished a chance to paraphrase their strictures and give them local application by the Coliseum collapse. The moral of the recent disasters is that reckless rapacity on the part of builders is not a local issue, but may be looked for wherever lax legislation regarding the proper construction of buildings shall give it a chance to toy with human life.

BETTER PRISONS.

It is interesting to note in an article on prison reform in England, which appears in the last number of the Nineteenth Century, that the English, who a few years ago ridiculed the reformatory system adopted in some American prisons, are approaching those same methods, and that the alteration has been accompanied by a perceptible decrease in crime. Whether this has been consequent upon the modification of the severities formerly practiced cannot, of course, be positively ascertained, but it is evident at least that the adoption of humane and scientific methods has not had a disastrous effect.

IN RESPONSE TO THE FINAL CALL.

Lavinia Austin.
Lavinia Austin, widow of the late John Austin, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Albert Schnell, on Milton avenue at ten o'clock yesterday forenoon. Mrs. Austin had a brief and serious illness last winter at the time of her husband's last sickness but she had apparently recovered from the effects of it and had busied herself with more than her usual energy with the management and care of the large estate left by her husband. On Saturday last she was at the office of her legal adviser making arrangements for leasing or of the farm for the coming year. At that time she seemed to be in excellent spirits and gave minute directions as to what she wanted done. She continued as usual until about half an hour before her death, when she complained of a pain in her chest. The distress soon extended to her left arm. Her daughter, Mrs. Schnell, was unable to do anything for her relief. Dr. Woods was called, but she died almost as he entered the house.

Mrs. Austin was born March 20, 1830, in the state of New York. She was married to George VanAntwerp and came west with him. He died of consumption soon afterward, leaving her with three small children. She married John Austin about forty years ago. Mr. Austin was then a poor man and the large fortune left by him represented the frugality, industry and ability of both himself and wife. Mrs. Austin was the counselor on whom her husband chiefly relied and as the years multiplied over their heads they became more and more to each other. One seldom left the place without the other. The intimate knowledge of her husband's affairs and business plans has attracted the attention of those who have come in contact with her in the course of her administration of her husband's estate. Her surviving children by her first husband are Mrs. Elizabeth Moore of St. Paul, Miss Frances J. Van Antwerp of Lima, and George Van Antwerp of Fulton, and by her second marriage, Alfred Austin, Mrs. Mary J. Robinson, Mrs. Margaret Lyke, Mrs. Eliza Hoppe, Mrs. Rachel Mitchell and Mrs. Henrietta Schnell. Two children, Mrs. Martha O'Brien and Charles Austin died some years ago. Mrs. Austin was a lady of great refinement and of the most kindly disposition. She was a member of the church of the United Brethren at Fulton. Her funeral will be held from the residence of Mr. Schnell, 246 Milton avenue, at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Annie Steinhouse.
Miss Annie Steinhouse died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Foote last evening, aged eighteen years, after a short illness, and her remains were sent to her former home at Montello, this morning. Miss Steinhouse had been employed as a domestic at Mr. Foote's for some time.

Mrs. Arthur Bock.
Mrs. Arthur Bock died August 15 at her home 608 John street, St. Paul, after an illness of a year and a half of consumption. The funeral was held at the house Aug. 18. Mrs. Bock was well known in Janesville having spent many years of her early life here.

Mrs. Sarah Bickford.
Mrs. Sarah Bickford died at her home Rock Falls, Ill., Aug. 25 aged sixty six years. Mrs. Bickford was the only sister of Mrs. Alfred Dewey of this city.

Cripple Creek, Col., Aug. 26.—Another bull was killed in the arena at Gillett yesterday in the presence of 6,000 people, and the work was done in the regal splendor of Spain and Mexico. It is added that seventeen of the pilgrims died while on their way to Lourdes and that 25,000 sufferers are at that place, some of them lying hopelessly about the depot and streets, clamoring to be carried to the sacred grotto.

May Be Trouble in Hawaii.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the new discovery for stomach troubles, is claimed to have cured over 6,000 people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894. this report will be the attorneys and ported by those who claim to know that there will be interesting revelations. The water works committee will declare, it is said, that they have proof fixing the cost of the works at a sum nearer $115,000 than $185,000.

ANOTHER RAID MADE AND WARNER JAILED

OFFICER HOGAN "PULLS" MRS.
JOHNSON AND "FRIENDS."

Horse Buyer Claims to Have Been Robbed of $30 and a Gold Watch
In the House, So Mrs. Johnson,
Mary Rafter and Florence O'Leary
Are Locked Up.

"Keep still!" said Mary Rafter, addressing John O'Neil, a traveling horse buyer, as the two sat in a room at Mrs.
Bertha Johnson's house, at 57 North River street, Saturday night. "We were arrested two months ago and the officers are likely to be watching us."

Mary must have been endowed with second sight, for within twelve hours she was comfortably situated within the county jail along with Bertha Johnson, the keeper of the house, and Theresa O'Leary an alleged inmate. This morning a complaint charging the trio with being inmates or keepers of a house of ill fame, was made in the municipal court and the case was set for 2 o'clock.

The arrests were made by Officer Hogan Sunday afternoon. O'Neil claimed that he had removed his coat and vest while at Mr. Johnson's house. When he put his garments back on, his gold watch and $30 were gone. He at once sought out Officer Hogan and told his story and together they visited Mrs. Johnson's place. Mrs. Johnson protested her innocence in strong terms, called the complainant a blackmailer, and threatened to get a gun and shoot him. He insisted that he had told the truth and afterward identified Mary Rafter as the woman he was with. No trace of the money or watch was found, but Officer Hogan locked the women up, pending their appearance in court.

District Attorney Jackson appeared for the state when the case was called, while Attorney T. S. Nolan had been hired by Johnson to defend Mrs. Johnson.

All the defendants waived the reading of the complaint, and the cases of Florence O'Leary and Mary Rafter were set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The examination of Mrs.
Johnson, who is charged with being the keeper of the house, will be held tomorrow afternoon.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Visit the Otter Creek Church.

A large audience assembled at the Otter Creek church in Lima township yesterday afternoon, and had a pleas-day school work; how to develop it, and increase its interest and efficiency.

Representatives from Milton, Rock Creek, Wilder and Burdick Sunday schools, took part. Miss M. Dell Wilder, superintendent of Wilder's
Sunday school, presided at the organ, and after a short exposition of the Sunday school lesson of the day by County Missionary H. M. Henry, J.
C. Plumb, of Milton, delivered a brief practical address full of timely suggestions. He was followed by J. T.
Wright, with one of his object lessons. A few words of encouragement by the county missionary closed the delightful gathering, but many tarried some time to shake hands and give expression of gratitude for the meeting and help that had been given by those who attended.

A convention will be held in Avon village Sept. 1, a meeting being called at the Baptist church at 10:30, in the Methodist church at 2:30 and at 7:30.

VALUABLE POINTER GONE MAD

Officer Houghton Has to Shoot J. P. Worthington's Canine. Fearing Hydrophobia.

Early Sunday evening people in the vicinity of Main and Milwaukee streets were startled by two gun shots, which caused the death of James Worthington's valuable English pointer. The dog showed signs which were thought to indicate hydrophobia but it is now thought that somebody gave him crushed glass. Fifteen minutes before he showed signs of madness he was at Davis' livery stable and drank water freely. Then he came down the street with foam falling from his jaws in big flakes. People got out of the way of the wild-eyed canine which rushed through the alley and arrived in the rear of Mr. Worthington's saloon. A tub of water stood in the back yard, and when the dog saw it, he made frantic efforts to climb a six-foot board fence. Realizing that the dog was in a dangerous condition, Mr. Worthington shot at it, but the fine shot with which the gun was loaded only lodged under the skin. Officer Houghton who had followed the beast in its run, came up at this juncture and fired a bullet into the dog's brain, killing him instantly.
No one was bitten, so far as is known.

asylum. Thence she sat down on a baggage truck, twisted her feet around the wheel, gripped the edge and said:
"Let's stay here."
And she stayed.
Her mother was alone with her and she could do nothing to budge her.
The sheriff of Jefferson county had to be wired to come and use his authority.

around his waist and seemed to have dragged it along until it caught on a tie. He lay so near the rail as to be in great peril. He was able to tell the men that his name was Kelly and that he lived on Madison avenue, so he was told to hurry home.

FIGHT OVER A HOUSE GETS INTO COURT

GEORGE PETERSON BALKED
THE LAW AND P. STEED.

He Moved the Residence Out of the Latter's Jurisdiction on Sunday, and When Steed Learned What His Rights Were, It Was Too Late to Act.

Constable Wallace Cochran is the proud possessor of a house that stands in the middle of Emmett street and thereby hangs a tale that Justice
Prichard will listen to on August 29.
Some time ago Patrick Steed sold a lot to George Peterson and Peterson built a house thereon, Steed holding a mortgage on the premises to secure money due on the lot. Yesterday morning Steed was much surprised to see that Peterson was engaged in moving the house away, and naturally enough, he objected. He came down town post haste and hunted up Schaller & McKey, as the firm also had a claim against the house for lumber furnished to build the same. He told them just what Peterson was doi g, and said that he proposed to "get the law on" Peterson. The law, however, takes a holiday on Sunday, so Steed had no legal resource until today.

"You have the right to protect your own property," he was told.
"You go back home and if anyone sets foot on your land, knock their heads off."

"But they have the house off of the lot now, and out in the street," he replied.

"Then you can do nothing until Monday," he was told. This morning the law resumed business at the old stand, and Steed was down town while the day was yet young, to take advantage of that fact. He got out a writ of replevin, and Officer Cochran went up and took possession. In the meantime Schaller & McKey's claim had been secured, so they had nothing as stake, but Mr. Steed's part of it will be passed upon next Thursday.

ONE FOOT ALL BUT CUT OFF

Horse Cut Knife Nearly Maims Harry Kueck For Life.

Harry Kueck, brother of ex-Alderman Kueck had one foot nearly cut off by a corn harvester. He jumped off the harvester to fix it and while he stood in front of the blade the horses started. He was brought in from his farm, three miles out, and Dr. Mein-hert sewed up his leg. The knife had cut through muscles and tendons into the bone.

Peaches and Cream.

save time with a GAS STOVE as well as labor. No preparation necessary to its lighting no coal or wood to handle, nothing to do but turn the valve and touch the match. Your meal is cooked, water is hot in a jiffy.
We are making terms on GAS STOVES that are easy to purchasers.

CHARACTER IN FACES.

A prominent nose and bold chin are the most favorable combination known to the physiognomist.

A well-arched forehead, with one slight perpendicular wrinkle, belongs to a wise and discreet character.

Indulgence in bad tempers may stamp them on the face so indelibly that they appear natural characteristics.

Noses that wrinkle on the sides, which never entirely disappear, generally appear to money-getting natures.

A forehead which in the upper part projects and in the lower sinks in toward the eyes shows mental weakness.

The upper part of the countenance is the seat of thought, labor and resolution; the lower half indicates action.

Long foreheads, with close drawn skin which shows no wrinkles, are the characteristics of cold, selfish natures.

Turned-up noses under high, arched foreheads are found only in men of despotism and bad disposition.

When the corners of the mouth turn downward the indication is of a scornful, contemptuous, opinionative man or woman.

Regular wrinkles of the forehead parallel with the eyebrows are generally found in very intelligent and deliberate persons.

Horizontal eyebrows, full and regular, show great understanding, deliberation, and capacity for planning and execution.

CURIOS.

The eldest son of the German Emperor is in his fourteenth year.

Near the middle of a white oak log, three feet in diameter, which was sawn the other day, at Blanchester, O., were the figures 1780.

The green ants of Australia make their nests by bending leaves in the form of a cone, and fastening them with a natural glue.

Strange drinks are served in the prohibition town of Pittsfield, Me. A toper there was served, by mistake, with a glass of embalming fluid, and at last accounts he was not sure whether he would die or was destined to enjoy immortal life.

Some one is trying to create trouble in the oyster market, and insure to the oyster a natural death, by quoting from Leviticus, xi, 10, this injunction against eating the succulent bivalve: "And all that have not fins and scales in the seas and in the rivers * * * they shall be an abomination unto you."

Fifty-three men were engaged in Brooklyn at an employment agency to travel to Europe with a rich invalid named Waldeman. They each paid $5 to the supposed agent. When they called again they learned that the invalid had recovered his health, and was strong enough to run away with $265 belonging to his dupes.

A funny young man in Milledgeville, Ga., rigged himself up as a ghost, and in the midnight gloom visited the house of a neighbor to frighten him and have a laugh at his expense. The ghost interrupted a burglar at his work, and the burglar turned the laugh against the ghost by robbing him of his watch and twenty dollars.

THE WHEEL.

Johnson's prizes last year were said to foot up $10,000.

Baltimore wheelmen have started a crusade against the watering nuisance. The extended use of bicycles in Denver has reduced the traffic receipts of the street railway companies one-half.

"A mile scratch for farm servants, pneumatics barred," is a novelty brought forth by an English race meet promoter.

A well-known society woman bicyclist goes forth to ride with her maid pedaling along behind her at a respectful distance.

That vault in Minneapolis in which Mr. Eck said Johnson had all his prizes stored may be thrown wide open now.

It is no more harm to play baseball on Sunday than to ride a bicycle, says a New York minister, who is against Sunday cycling.

Following the example of the Americans, there are now two one-legged cyclists in England who are endeavoring to get on a match race.

One reason why the bicycle houses keep such awful old machines to rent is that they are returned in the worst possible condition by the best possible people.

TREES.

The region between the Nile and the Red Sea was once clothed in forest. So were the Scotch Highlands.

In Buena Vista, Ohio, an apple tree is reported bearing at the same time half-grown apples, buds and blossoms. The Tea Party tree in Bowthorpe Park, Lincolnshire, England, has a hollow big enough to place a table with seats for several guests.

The oldest chestnut may be that at Torworth, England. It is fifty feet in circumference, but the trunk is very short. So long ago as 1135 it was a landmark and signal, as appears upon records.

In the west of Ireland was an enormous forest until the sixteenth century. After the Geraldine rising in 1534, this great forest was all cut away by English settlers as a means of depriving the Irish of their last hiding place and refuge.

PEOPLING THE EARTH.

A French conscript recently claimed exemption from military duty because he was, at 20, the father of four children.

Paul Gee, of Lamar, Mo., colored, has 38 children hustling for a living in Virginia and Missouri. He is 85.

Babies are welcomed on the Sisseton Indian reservation. Every new one born to a family increases the allowance from Uncle Sam.

Dr. Roger A. Tracy says twins and triplets are increasingly common in New York. Eighteen hundred and ninety-three was the banner year thus far, with 847 pairs of twins born and five sets of triplets.

It has been calculated that, assuming the heart to beat sixty-nine times a minute at ordinary heart pressure, the blood goes at the rate of 207 yards in the minute, or seven miles per hour, 163 miles per day and 6,320 miles per year. If a man of eighty-four years of age could have one single blood corpuscle in his blood all his life, it would have traveled, in that same time, 5,150,808 miles.

You Don't Have to Swear Off says the St. Louis Journal of Agriculture in an editorial about No-To-Bac the famous tobacco habit cure. ## It Makes Us Shudder

To think of chills and fever. But when we really have it—supposing us to be so unfortunate—our frames undergo a series of shocks which bear a close analogy to those produced by an earthquake. Roasted next, we are drenched by perspiration afterward. Truly a delectable condition of things. But how easy to remedy and how speedy! The certain means of relief is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Tested as well where malaria is prevalent in its most virulent forms, as where it takes on a milder guise, it has proved itself to possess both a remedial and preventive efficacy of the highest order. In South America Guatemala, Mexico and the Isthmus of Panama no less than throughout the North American continent, its success as a means of forestalling and relieving miasmatic disease has been unparalleled. Use the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, bilious and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility.

Easy to take, sure to cure, no pain nothing to dread, pleasant little pills. De Witt's Little Early Risers. Best for sick headache, biliousness, sour stomach and constipation. C. D. Stevens.

The Bicycle Industry.

It is estimated that last year (1894) over 200,000 wheels were manufactured by the different companies engaged in their production. This year, with greatly increased facilities and improved machinery, together with a large increase in the number of producers, the product will reach in the neighborhood of 400,000 wheels. What it will be next year can only be guessed at, as this year's business has been dwarfed and held in check by a positive inability to supply the unparalleled demand for wheels of every description. New factories contemplate entering this seductive business; additions are being built to old factories, almost equal to the original plant, stocked with the most intricate and "up-to-date" machinery, which, before March, 1896, will begin to make an impression on the trade that will carry the production to a possible 700,000. This, with every foreign country with an intelligent population already knocking at our doors for a share in this distribution (even in blocks of 500 to 1,000 wheels at a time, from individual buyers) will, we prophesy, even with the grand total above suggested for a year's production, leave us in November, 1896, with few, if any, to carry over into 1897.

Cholera morbus is a dangerous complaint, and often is fatal in its results. To avoid this you should use De Witt's Colic & Cholera Cure, as soon as the first symptom's appear. C. D. Stevens.
